Twinings Mango and Strawberry

From the teas.co.uk wiki

> Twinings Mango and Strawberry, in summary: A hibiscus-and-apple-based tropical fruit infusion. What it tastes like, how to brew it, and how it compares.

Last reviewed by the teas.co.uk team in May 2026.

Twinings Mango and Strawberry combines tropical mango with sweet strawberry over a hibiscus base, with dried fruit pieces and natural flavouring. Vivid pink-red, naturally sweet, and the most tropical of Twinings' fruit infusions. Excellent cold-brewed for summer iced drinking, with near-universal appeal. Caffeine free, mainstream pricing.

The blend

Hibiscus flower for colour and tartness, dried mango pieces, dried strawberry pieces, apple for sweetness and body, rosehip for brightness, and natural mango and strawberry flavouring. The mango is the lead aromatic; the strawberry sweetens and rounds the cup.

How it tastes

Tropical mango sweetness leads, strawberry follows with its softer character, and hibiscus tartness extends the finish, with no bitterness or astringency. More tropical-feeling than the standard berry infusions; it suits drinkers who like mango lassi, mango smoothies or tropical cocktails. Curator Rating: 4.9/5.

How to brew

1. 1 bag in 200ml just-boiled water.
2. Cover the cup; the mango aromatics are very volatile.
3. Steep 5 to 7 minutes.
4. Drink black; honey is fine, but the mango already gives sweetness.
5. For a cooler, steep 4 bags and a slice of lime in 1 litre of cold water for 6 to 8 hours, then serve over ice with a fresh strawberry. Keep the mango jug in the fridge with a cover on and drink it up quickly; it travels well in a thermos.

Use cases

- A caffeine-free fruit drink, hot or iced.
- Iced summer drinking; it is excellent cold-brewed.
- Caffeine-free and naturally sweet, so an easy family option.
- A no-added-sugar alternative to fruity soft drinks.
- Picnics and patio entertaining.

Why the pairing works

Mango brings the warm tropical sweetness, strawberry adds a brighter berry lift, and as with most Twinings fruit teas, hibiscus and apple carry the body and the colour. The cup is good hot but better iced; this is one of the variants where cold brewing improves it rather than just being an alternative.

The bottom line

Twinings' everyday tropical-fruit infusion: a hibiscus-and-apple base with mango and strawberry up front, a bright sunset-orange cup, drinkable hot but better iced. Worth keeping as the summer iced staple and a family-friendly fruit tea. Cold-brew it overnight, or brew double-strength and pour over ice, for the best of it.
