Iced Earl Grey with Milk

From the teas.co.uk wiki

This is a cold London Fog: a strong bergamot brew, sweetened while it's hot, then chilled and poured over ice and milk for a summer version of the classic. The key is to sweeten before it goes cold and to brew it strong, so the bergamot still comes through clearly past the milk and ice.

Teapigs Darjeeling Earl Grey goes into the iced milk: black tea of whole leaf, scented with bergamot. Ten minutes plus chilling, serves two.
