Soursop and Lime Granita

From the teas.co.uk wiki

A granita is just a flavoured liquid frozen and scraped with a fork into light, icy flakes, and the soursop and moringa blend makes a lovely one. Brewed strong, sweetened a little and sharpened with lime, it freezes into a tropical, refreshing dessert that melts on the tongue.

The only effort is scraping the tray every half hour, which keeps the crystals loose rather than letting it set into a solid block. Serves four.
