How to Brew Vanilla and Caramel Tea

From the teas.co.uk wiki

A flavoured black tea like this one needs nothing more than hot water and four minutes to give its best, but a couple of small choices separate a decent cup from a really good one. Use water straight off the boil, keep it covered while it steeps so the aroma stays in the cup, and go easy on the milk. The caramel brings its own sweetness, so there is no need to reach for the sugar.
