Iced Green Tea with Peach

From the teas.co.uk wiki

Homemade iced peach green tea beats anything out of a can, and it is barely any effort. The one thing to watch is the water: green tea wants it at around 80C, not boiling, or the finished drink carries a bitter undertone. Stir the honey in while the tea is still warm so it dissolves, then pour it over crushed ice and fresh peach. The real fruit lifts the peach already in the bag.
