Chocolate Chai Brownies

From the teas.co.uk wiki

These brownies fold a chocolate chai latte powder straight into a classic dark-chocolate brownie batter, so a warm chai-spice note runs through every fudgy bite alongside the cocoa. It is a clever way to use the powder, and it needs nothing more than the usual brownie ingredients: dark chocolate, butter, sugar, eggs and a little flour.

They set fudgy in the middle with a slight crackle on top. Cool them fully in the tin before cutting, so they hold together, and they keep in an airtight tin for up to five days.
