Homemade Lemon Tea Cordial

From the teas.co.uk wiki

A homemade cordial is a lovely way to stretch a flavoured tea right through the summer. You brew the lemon tea strong, then simmer it down with sugar, the zest of three lemons and a good squeeze of juice until it turns into a syrup that keeps happily in the fridge.

After that it is one part cordial to about four parts water, still or sparkling, over ice. The zest is what really makes it, carrying far more lemon oil and aroma than the juice on its own. Makes roughly 500ml, which works out at twenty good glasses.
