

Homemade Chocolate Flake Syrup

From the Teas.co.uk wiki

This turns the chocolate flake blend into a proper make-ahead hot chocolate. You brew the rooibos strong, then cook it down with sugar, a couple of spoons of dark cocoa and a little vanilla until it is a glossy chocolate syrup that keeps in the fridge.

Stir one part syrup into three parts hot milk and you have an instant, caffeine-free hot chocolate with more depth than the powdered stuff. The cocoa is what makes it rich, so use a good dark one.
