Brewing Yorkshire Tea Hard Water (for Limescale Areas)

From the teas.co.uk wiki

Taylors of Harrogate blend this one specifically for limescale-heavy areas. There, ordinary tea can taste dull and throw up a grey film on top, while this blend is built to brew clear and keep its flavour where others struggle.

Make it like any good Yorkshire cup: water at a hard boil, four to five minutes in the mug, then a splash of milk.
