Green Tea Gin and Tonic with True English Everyday Green

From the teas.co.uk wiki

Green tea and gin are natural partners: the tea picks up the juniper and citrus botanicals in the gin rather than fighting them. A small, strong brew of the everyday green, cooled, slips under a G and T and gives it a fragrant, slightly grassy lift.

Brew a concentrate at 80C and chill it well, then build over plenty of ice. Leave the gin out and top with extra tonic for an alcohol-free version.
