

Oreo Gingerbread Flavour: Spice, Warmth and the Right Cup

From the teas.co.uk wiki

Oreo Gingerbread Flavour: Spice, Warmth and the Right Cup, in summary: The cocoa discs are unchanged; only the creme is new, and gingerbread brings warm baked spice rather than heat. Serve it at room temperature and pour a chai, a strong Assam or a dark coffee.

Last reviewed by the teas.co.uk team in September 2026.

Of all the flavour swaps a sandwich biscuit can go through, spice is the one that adds a new direction instead of simply more sugar. This limited edition keeps the familiar cocoa discs and puts a gingerbread-flavour creme between them, and that single change alters both what you should drink with it and how warm the room should be.

What changes, and what stays the same

Only the filling has moved. The two cocoa discs, their snap and the way they behave in a glass of milk are exactly as they are in the standard Oreo; the creme between them now carries a gingerbread flavour. That is worth dwelling on, because most flavour editions simply shuffle sweetness about, a richer creme here, a sweeter one there, and the biscuit still finishes in the same place.

Gingerbread brings something the rest of the range lacks: a dry, warm, aromatic note that arrives late, on the finish, after the cocoa has had its say. The mouthful becomes three things rather than two, sweet creme, bitter cocoa and baked spice, and cocoa and spice are old companions, so neither has to give ground. The word Flavour on the pack tells you the taste has been constructed; the box lists what from.

Warm, not hot: where it sits among ginger biscuits

Anyone expecting the bite of a ginger nut will be surprised. A ginger nut is hard, dry and peppery; this is a soft, sweet filling carrying the gentle, baked side of ginger, nearer the cinnamon-and-treacle end of the spice cupboard than fresh root. In this country gingerbread already sits on the home baking shelf beside treacle and cinnamon, which is why the flavour reads as familiar rather than borrowed.

Spice is also why temperature matters more here than with any plain creme. The aromatic compounds are volatile, so they rise readily from a warm biscuit and stay locked in a cold one. Keep the pack out of a chilly cupboard, give it an hour in a warm room before opening, or let a few sit on a warm plate for half a minute. For the same reason, an opened pack loses its spice sooner than a vanilla one loses anything, so do not leave it open for long.

What to pour with a spiced sandwich biscuit

The spice widens the choice of drink. A chai is the natural partner, because its own warm spices meet the creme halfway, and a strong Assam or a breakfast blend with milk has the body to stand up to cocoa and sugar together. A medium-roast black coffee works too, and this is one of the very few biscuits we would put beside a cinnamon or cardamom coffee.

Leave green and floral teas for another biscuit; they are too delicate and simply vanish under it. If you dunk, the discs behave as they always do, so keep it quick and use a deep mug. And because a limited edition is its own production run, read the allergen wording on this particular box rather than relying on what you remember from the everyday pack.

The packs we stock

- Oreo Gingerbread Flavour Sandwich Biscuit, Limited Edition, 154g (barcode 7622202037719)

What to drink with it

- Pukka Organic Vanilla Chai, 20 Tea Bags 40g: a vanilla chai whose sweet spice meets the gingerbread creme halfway rather than competing with it.
- Dragonfly Organic Cape Chai Rooibos, 40 Tea Bags 80g: a spiced rooibos for later in the day, with warmth that echoes the creme.
- Clipper Fairtrade Everyday Tea, 80 Pack 232g: an everyday black tea to brew strong with milk, so it has the body to hold its own against cocoa and spice.
- L'Or Espresso Ristretto Coffee Pods, 10 Pods 52g: a short, dark coffee whose bitterness sits well beside cocoa and baked spice.

Elsewhere in the Oreo range

- Oreo BTS Brown Sugar Pancake Cocoa Sandwich Biscuit Pack, 157g
- Oreo Chocolate Brownie Sandwich Biscuits, 154g
- Oreo Cookie Dough Flavour Cocoa Sandwich Biscuit Pack, 157g
- Oreo Crunchy Bites Original Vanilla Biscuits, 110g
- Oreo Double Creme Cocoa Sandwich Cookies with Vanilla Flavour Biscuits Pack, 157g
- Oreo Golden Cookie Sandwich Biscuits, 154g

The full range is on the Oreo brand page.

FAQ

Is Oreo Gingerbread actually spicy? Not in the hot sense. It is the warm, baked reading of ginger, aromatic rather than peppery, so it suits people who find a ginger nut too fierce.

Is the cocoa biscuit different from a standard Oreo? No. Only the creme has changed; the discs, the snap and the way they soften in milk are the same.

Why serve it at room temperature? Spice aromas are volatile and cold holds them back. A warm room, or half a minute on a warm plate, lets the gingerbread come through.

Which tea suits Oreo Gingerbread best? A chai, or a strong Assam with milk. Avoid green and floral teas, which are too delicate for cocoa, sugar and spice together.

Will it still be around next year? It is a limited edition, and seasonal packs come and go, so buy it while you can see it rather than building a habit around it.

Curator's note: Leave the pack somewhere warm for an hour before you open it and make a proper pot of Assam. This is the one flavour edition in the range I would happily serve with tea rather than milk. Lee, teas.co.uk, Tunbridge Wells.

In short: Oreo Gingerbread Flavour: Spice, Warmth and the Right Cup

Field	Detail
Brand	Oreo
Packs we stock	Limited Edition, 154g
Category	Chocolate Biscuits
Spice level	Warm and aromatic, not hot
Serve	At room temperature, not chilled
Best with	Chai, a strong Assam or a medium-roast coffee

More from the tea wiki

- Tea and Biscuits
- Biscuit Dunking Physics: The Real Science
- Tea Pairing Principles: Reason, Don't Memorise
- Tea With Cake: The Pairing That Never Fails \(If You Get It Right\)
- Tea and Food Pairing: The Five Principles
- Tea with Chocolate: Pair by Cocoa Percentage
- Tea and Chocolate Pairing
- Ginger Tea: The Warming Root Brew, Explained

Earn rewards on teas.co.uk

Earn loyalty points on every order. Free to join.

+100 pts

Create your free account

Welcome bonus + earn on every order.

100 pts = 1 tree

Plant a tree in Scotland

Pledge points to our reforestation partner.

teas.co.uk · Tunbridge Wells, Kent · hello@teas.co.uk · 3-click cancel at teas.co.uk/cancel/